Status of Application, Amendments, And/Or Claims

- 1. The Amendment filed 16 May 2003 (Paper No. 12) has been entered in full. Claims 11, 15, 18, 19, and 21-24 have been amended. Claims 12-14, 16, 17, 20, and 26-57 have been cancelled. Claims 1-10 remain withdrawn from consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected material, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Claims 11, 15, 18, 19, and 21-25 are under examination.
- 2. The Applicant's continued traversal of the Restriction requirement as set forth in Office Action Paper No. 5 (27 March 2002) is noted and maintained for the reasons as set forth in the previous Office Action Paper No. 8 (15 November 2002).
- 3. The Applicant has requested that the double patenting rejections be held in abeyance until indication of allowability in the instant application. The Examiner accepts this and herein indicates whether or not the rejections under double patenting as set forth at pp. 11-14 ¶24-33 in the previous Office Action (Paper No. 9, 15 November 2002) have been obviated by amendment and if not, has maintained them where appropriate.
- 4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Withdrawn Objections And/Or Rejections

5. The objection to the specification as set forth at pp. 3 ¶4-5 of the previous Office Action (Paper No. 9, 15 November 2002) is withdrawn in view of Applicant's amendments (Paper No. 12, 16 May 2003).

- 9. The rejection of claims 11-25 under 35 U.S.C. §101 (double patenting) as set forth at pp. 9-10 ¶18-19 of the previous Office Action (Paper No. 9, 15 November 2002) is withdrawn in view of Applicant's amendments (Paper No. 12, 16 May 2003).
- 10. The rejection of claims 11-25 under 35 U.S.C. §112 ¶1 as set forth at pp. 4-9 ¶8-17 of the previous Office Action (Paper No. 9, 15 November 2002) is withdrawn in part in view of Applicant's amendments (Paper No. 12, 16 May 2003).

Maintained Objections And/Or Rejections

11. Claims 11, 15, 18, 19, and 21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a method of treating Alzheimer's disease in a mammalian subject, comprising administering to the subject a dosage of the $A\beta_{42}$ fragment AN1792 and synuclein fragment synuclein-NAC effective to produce an immune response comprising antibodies against said of $A\beta_{42}$ fragment AN1792 and synuclein fragment synuclein-

Art Unit: 1647

NAC and an adjuvant that augments the immune response to said $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792), does not reasonably provide enablement for administration of other synucleins or fragments, administration of synuclein alone, or the prevention of Alzheimer's disease. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims for the reasons as set forth in at pp. 4-9 \$8-17 of the previous Office Action (Paper No. 9, 15 November 2002).

- 12. The Applicant traverses the 35 U.S.C. §112 ¶1 rejection of claims 11, 15, 18, 19, and 21-25 as set forth in at pp. 4-9 ¶8-17 of the previous Office Action (Paper No. 10, 27 November 2002) on the following grounds: (a) the PDAPP mouse model is a good mouse model for Alzheimer's disease, (b) the synuclein fragment, synuclein-NAC, is a component (together with Aβ) in plaques found in Alzheimer's disease, (c) adequate guidance is presented to practice the invention, (d) no undue experimentation is required to evaluate all of the cellular and humoral effects of Aβ₄₂ (AN1792) fragments to practice in the invention, (e) citing In re Brana (Fed. Cir. 1995) the Applicant argues that the USPTO is not responsible for testing therapies, (f) the mutations claimed are known in the art, and (g) a nexus between active and passive immunization and therapeutic effects is present for Alzheimer's disease. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but are not deemed to be persuasive for the following reasons.
- 13. The instant claims are drawn very broadly to a method of treating Alzheimer's disease via active immunization with synucleins or synucleins plus Aβ. The language of said claims encompasses both treatment and prevention Alzheimer's disease. "Prevention" is understood to mean the complete and total stoppage of any Alzheimer's disease signs and symptoms. Thus it is an "all-or-nothing" effect, not a lowered incidence of disease or an alleviation of symptoms.

Art Unit: 1647

14. The specification teaches that the administration of particular $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragments and synuclein-NAC with an immunogenic adjuvant reduces β -amyloid levels within the brains of transgenic PDAPP mice. These mice exhibit Alzheimer's disease type over production and build up of β -amyloid within the brain {Chapman (21/28 December 2000) "Model Behavior." Nature 408: 915-916 (IDS #266)}.

- 15. Since the specification fails to provide any guidance for the successful prevention of Alzheimer's disease via active immunization, and since resolution of the various complications in regards to treating Alzheimer's disease is highly unpredictable, one of skill in the art would have been unable to practice the invention without engaging in undue trial and error experimentation. In order to practice the invention using the specification and the state of the art as outlined below, the quantity of experimentation required to practice the invention as claimed would require the de novo determination of formulations with known amyloid proteins, Alzheimer's disease signs and symptoms to correlate with prevention of said Alzheimer's disease. In the absence of any guidance from the specification, the amount of experimentation would be undue, and one would have been unable to practice the invention over the scope claimed.
- 16. The specification as filed does not provide any guidance or examples that would enable a skilled artisan to use the disclosed method of using $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragment for active immunization in a patient to prevent Alzheimer's disease. Thus, although the specification prophetically considers and discloses general methodologies of using the claimed method for prevention, such a disclosure would not be considered enabling since the state of Alzheimer's disease is highly unpredictable. The factors listed below have been considered in the analysis of enablement:

Page 6

- (A) The breadth of the claims;
- (B) The nature of the invention;
- (C) The state of the prior art;
- (D) The level of one of ordinary skill;
- (E) The level of predictability in the art;
- (F) The amount of direction provided by the inventor;
- (G) The existence of working examples; and
- (H) The quantity of experimentation needed to make or use the invention based on the content of the disclosure.
- 17. On "(a)", the Examiner accepts the Applicant's argument that the PDAPP mouse is a representative mouse model of Alzheimer's disease {see Chapman (21/28 December 2000) "Model Behavior." Nature 408: 915-916 (IDS #266)}. However, the instant claims, as amended, are directed to prevention of Alzheimer's disease. While being enabled for using active immunization of A β_{42} (AN1792) fragment with synuclein-NAC in an adjuvant to treat Alzheimer's disease, the Specification does not provide sufficient support for the prevention of Alzheimer's disease.
- 18. In response to "(b)", Examiner accepts the Applicant's argument and has broadened the scope of enablement to encompass the synuclein-NAC fragment which is found in plaques in Alzheimer's disease.
- 19. In response to "(c)", the Examiner accepts the Applicant's argument to the extent that the Specification provides ample evidence to use active immunization of $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragment with synuclein-NAC in an adjuvant to treat but not prevent Alzheimer's disease in mammalian subjects.

Art Unit: 1647

- 20. Concerning "(d)", the Examiner accepts the Applicant's argument to the extent that the Specification provides ample evidence to use active immunization of $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragment with synuclein-NAC in an adjuvant to treat but not prevent Alzheimer's disease in mammalian subjects.
- 21. To address "(e)", the Examiner accepts the Applicant's argument that the USPTO is not responsible for testing the effectiveness of active immunization of $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragment with synuclein-NAC in an adjuvant. The Examiner reiterates that the Specification provides ample evidence to use active immunization of $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragments to treat Alzheimer's disease in mammalian subjects. Thus even when faced with possible inflammatory side effects, the claimed method may provide relief from Alzheimer's disease. The Examiner accepts the Applicant's argument that a clinician ("one skilled in the art") would be able to accommodate for such side effects and practice the claimed method of using active immunization of $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragment with synuclein-NAC in an adjuvant to treat Alzheimer's disease with an on balance, positive therapeutic effect.
- 22. In response to "(f)", the Examiner maintains that only the AN1792 fragment and synuclein-NAC fragment for active immunization and not all fragments thereof. The skilled artisan readily recognizes that protein chemistry is an unpredictable area of biotechnology. Proteins with deletion, insertion or substitution/replacement of single amino acid residues may lead to both structural and functional changes in biological activity and immunological recognition, see in particular Skolnick & Fetrow (2000) "From genes to protein structure and function: novel applications of computational approaches in the genomic era." Trends in Biotech.

 18(1): 34-39 (IDS #337). For example, Jobling & Holmes (1991) "Analysis of structure and

Application/Control Number: 09/724,567 Page 8

Art Unit: 1647

Microbiology 5(7): 1755-67 (IDS #334) teaches a panel of single amino acid substitutions by oligonucleotide directed mutagenesis which produce proteins that differ in native conformation, immunological recognition, binding and toxicity. The skilled artisan further recognizes that immunological responses may depend upon the structural characteristics (conformation) of the particular protein (amino acid sequence) targeted. Thus, both biological function and immunological recognition are unpredictable properties which must be experimentally determined. Further it is noted, that for particularly small peptides, conjugation appears to be required for promoting an effective immune response. Thus the skilled artisan is not presented with sufficient guidance in the instant Specification to practice the invention to the full scope of use of all as of yet unspecified fragments of Aβ.

- On issue in "(g)", the Examiner accepts the Applicant's argument to the extent that the Specification provides ample evidence to use active immunization of $A\beta_{42}$ (AN1792) fragment with synuclein-NAC in an adjuvant to treat but not prevent Alzheimer's disease in mammalian subjects.
- 24. The rejection of claims 11, 15, 18, 19, and 21-25 under 35 U.S.C. §112 ¶1 is maintained.
- 25. The rejection of claims 11, 15, 18, 19, and 21-25 under provisional obvious-type non-statutory double patenting as set forth at pp. 10-12 ¶20-27 in the previous Office Action (Paper No. 9, 15 November 2002) is maintained.
